

The Department of English and Creative Writing stands in solidarity with our colleagues in the Program in African and African American Studies, and with all the faculty, students, staff, and members of the Dartmouth community whose concerns were raised in the open letter to the Dartmouth College Board of Trustees and senior administration in July 2020.